

Where to Go? - Houston, TX

Sunday, 27 April 2008

Houston is a major medical destination, not just for Americans but for people from many other countries also. This report discusses M. D. Anderson Cancer Center, arguably America's top rated cancer center. The Center offers not only some of the most advanced conventional treatment options available but also has an excellent integrative medicine program. The report also discusses other innovative approaches to cancer including the work of Stanislaw Burzynski, MD; and also a little known program utilizing whole body hyperthermia (heat treatment) in an academic setting.

For more information or to order this report, please click here .